

A Roller Skating Panda

There once lived a Panda named Little Bear. She was going to Animal's Inn, the new roller skating rink. She had never been roller skating before, but she went anyway. All her friends were there. She knew they were all very good. The Panda was very scared that her friends would laugh at her. When Little Bear arrived she felt very afraid. She put her roller skates on but she was having a hard time putting on the straps and wheels. When Little Bear got them on she stood up, then she fell down. She felt very embarrassed, so she took her roller skates off. Little Bear walked bare foot over to her friends.

She said, "I don't know how to roller skate". Her friends said, "That's sad we'll teach you!" So Piggy went in the front, Katy and Kitty went in the back, and jumps the frog, held both of her hands, the next thing Little

Little Bear new, she was skating like a pro!