

I woke up Friday morning and slowly opened my eyes. Once I could see, I realized that I WAS AT SCHOOL. It looks like my friends Olive, Harper, and my little sister Alice fell asleep too, because they were all passed out on the ground. "Uh guys wake up." I say. I look around to see a random teacher eating a taco. I cringe, "UMM. OKAY." I say weirdly. I wake up my friends and we all wonder what happened "Um guys there is an eight on Anna's head." Olive says. "And on your head too Olive!" Harper says. We all look around and get aware of the classroom. "What time is it?" Olive groans. "It is only- 3:40 AM!?" I holler. We all dash to the school doors and realize that THEY. WERE. LOCKED. "Uh, guys? THE DOORS ARE LOCKED" I scream. And it was the second I bumped into the door and I had a feeling. We were never getting out

I look around to the side of the door. The wall looked old. Rusty. Something seemed off. There was also a Circuit breaker on the left of the door. Harper looked closer at it while I examined the wall. "Guys look!" Alice says. Olive runs over to the circuit breaker and says, "There are numbers. One of these must be a door!" "Oh yeah!" I say. "Guys, I have an idea. So Olive is the tallest and I am the middle, and Alice is shortest. so put the numbers in order!" I say. We stand in a line and read off the numbers. "3,6,4,8?" Olive says. We click the button that says 648 and the room turns all black.

I scream. There was a deep voice in the room. I mean it. DEEP. "YOU HAVE 10 SECONDS TO TURN THE LIGHTS ON." the voice said. It started counting down and the room filled with water.

10

We ran to the side of the room banging on the walls.

9

We looked on the ground noticing it was blowing up water, but there was a hole.

“Guys there is a hole that's how we get out!” I yell

8

7

The water is up to my head.

6

I start to hold my breath.

5

4

Harper slams on the door on the ceiling

3

It manages to budge open enough for me, Alice, Olive, and Harper to get through.

2

We shove each other up the hole and all manage to get out before the voice says—

1.

I run away and get to the circuit breaker just in time to flip the switch on. All the lights turn on but something grabs me and says, “Hello.” I turn around to see the weird taco eating teacher holding my shoulder. "BRO WHAT THE HECK! YOU SCARED ME SO BAD! I NEARLY HAD A HEART ATTACK!" I screamed. "Sorry," he said and backed up into the shadows. "Huh?" "Oh never mind Olive Harper Alice! Where are you guys?!" I yelled. "Right here." Harper said while pulling Olive. Alice was walking behind them. Her arm was bleeding. "What happened to Alice?" I said. "Oh she's hurt. She was cut by the side of the door." I rush over to look at my sister. Noticing the piece of shrapnel in her arm. "Well how about we try the numbers in age order" I say. "Okay... um so I am the oldest so 4683" I flip the switch that says 4683 and nothing happens until the deep voice comes again. "Congratulations!" it said. And what came out of the shadows? You guessed it. THE TACO TEACHER. "Great job for escaping!" he said. "So it was you all along!" "Wow." Olive says and we notice the doors are not locked. I open the doors and walk out. The cold Autem fresh air welcomes me. And then my favorite part was when me, Olive, and Harper all finally walked home. We were on my street when something struck me. Where was Alice?